Subject: HOSA Happenings- 11/10/25- Anatomage, Health Fair, and Thunder tickets!

I hope your week is off to a great start! Please take a moment to review three important opportunities happening THIS WEEK and the deadlines associated with each. These events offer powerful learning experiences for your students—please take advantage of them while sign-ups are still open!

1 Anatomage Virtual Tournament – Registration Closes This Friday

Registration for the Oklahoma HOSA Virtual Anatomage Tournament closes this Friday November 14. This is open to both secondary and postsecondary teams—and you do NOT need an Anatomage table or tablets to participate.

Tournament Dates: November 19–20

Register Here: Virtual Tournament Sign-up

This competition is a fun and challenging way for students to deepen their understanding of human anatomy and physiology using an interactive digital platform. Encourage students who love science to sign up before the deadline!

2 OKC Health Science College, Program & Career Fair – THIS WEDNESDAY

It's not too late to bring a group! Registration remains open for the FREE statewide health science career fair happening this Wednesday at the Reed Conference Center in Midwest City.

Students will be able to meet colleges, universities, career programs, and industry partners across Oklahoma that represent dozens of healthcare pathways. This is a fantastic exposure opportunity—especially for students exploring possible next steps after high school.

3 Oklahoma HOSA Day with the Thunder – Info & Ticket Link Live

The agenda, daily activities, pricing, and ticket order information for Oklahoma HOSA Day with the Thunder are included in the attached graphic you received earlier. This high-energy day is always a student favorite and a prime opportunity to promote leadership, teamwork, and school spirit. Please review the graphic below and share with students and families as you plan your chapter's attendance.
